We want to encourage our children to read their bibles with their families. Therefore, a Bible medal will be awarded to those children who complete the following age specific requirements.

- Our youngest non-readers should complete the weekly worksheets given out during Junior Worship. Go over the worksheets with them and discuss the Bible story for the week and ask what we can learn from it.
- Those who are just beginning to read should complete the above and also read the story for themselves from a source such as The Young Readers Bible.
- For those in third grade and above, we recommend a version of the New International Reader's Bible. There are several to choose from. Use either the daily devotional or questions to guide the reading. The kids won't be exactly where the adults are in their reading, but the material has been organized to make it meaningful for them.
